BEST Test of English Proficiency

陪你自信向前
Your BEST STEP Forward

Test Introduction

The Ministry of Education (MOE) launched the Program on Bilingual Education for Students in College, referred to as the BEST program, with the goals of building a bilingual teaching and learning environment in colleges and universities, strengthening the English proficiency of college- and university-level students, and promoting EMI courses to enhance the overall international competitiveness of higher education in Taiwan. The MOE also seeks to foster positive interactions between English teaching, learning, and assessment programs at colleges and universities. This entails aligning these programs with specific language standards, tracking students' learning progress, and providing an understanding of how a learning institution's courses affect performance on assessments. To address these needs, the MOE has provided funding for the Language Training & Testing Center (LTTTC) to develop and administer the BEST Test of English Proficiency, known by the acronym BESTEP.

Test Purposes

- To cultivate good English communication skills among college and university students so that they can meet the demands of the workplace or international environments.
- To evaluate students' English learning outcomes during their school years to enable educational institutions to continuously improve their teaching quality and provide more effective language instruction.
- To assess students' English proficiency before they enter English-medium instruction (EMI) courses and to assist them in adapting to the challenges of attending academic courses in English.
- To serve as an important indicator of applicants' English language proficiency for corporations when recruiting and selecting employees.
- To assess applicants' English performance in a work environment to ensure their ability to communicate effectively with people from different countries.

Test Features

- The BESTEP is an academic-oriented English proficiency test developed specifically for domestic college students, so it is a completely new and more suitable assessment tool.
- The BESTEP focuses on assessing general academic English and English communication skills in international academic and workplace situations. It tests all four skills—speaking, writing, listening and reading—in modules.
- The BESTEP can be linked to the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR).
- The BESTEP covers CEFR levels A to C, thereby effectively measuring a wide range of English proficiency levels.

Test Fee

The BESTEP is officially recognized by the Ministry of Education under the Program on Bilingual Education for Students in College. The test fee is fully subsidized by the Ministry of Education.

Test Results and Feedback

The total score for the four sections is 1000 points. In addition to the scores for each section and the CEFR levels they are aligned with, the score report also provides the scores on the individual parts of the test and the achievement rates to assist the test takers in further understanding their performance. Test takers can scan the QR code on the score report of the listening and reading test to access the 'Learning Portfolio' on the official website to view more individualized feedback, including the achievement levels for individual can-do descriptors (analysis of strengths and weaknesses), examples and explanations, guidance for learning, vocabulary (including sample sentences and pronunciation), and sentence patterns.

Certificate

Test takers requiring certificates may apply for one within 2 years of the test date.
The fee for each copy is TWD $250.
